

Research carried out at Sussex reveals how environmental green agendas and the phenomenon of 'green grabbing' are depriving is charcoal produced by incomplete combustion of vegetation and when added to soils can help improve soil's condition whilst sequestering atmospheric carbon dioxide. What concerned Fairhead was that it is